FINAL 2017

CONNECTING CHURCH TO COMMUNITY THROUGH FOOTBALL

Chairman's report - Mike Culwick

I was browsing in Sainsbury's recently when a man I didn't recognise said "Hello Mick, how are you?" "Very well" I answered, "But sorry, I don't recognise you". "I'm Leslie Cooper, and was in the Boys Brigade, you remember now?"

Of course I did. I hadn't seen Leslie for over 40 years, and he told me how being in the Boys Brigade had provided him with a firm foundation for his life. In his work experiences people he met would remark on his integrity, and his willingness to help others; he was noticed to be somehow different to other people. He would tell them he is the person he is today because of the time he spent in the Boys Brigade, and the influence the officers had on his young life at the time. There are countless 'Leslies' about, whose lives have been greatly influenced by belonging to a Christian organisation in their youth, which has provided a solid foundation on which to build their lives.

We have the cream of the Christian Football league competing in their prospective age group finals during May, and we applaud the teams and their coaches for getting to the finals. Especially Lowestoft, who in their first season with us have a 100% record as u12 league winners and could complete a clean sweep by the end of May. This programme contains details of all our league winners and cup finalists. However you all fared this season, you have all contributed to make this yet another successful football adventure in the Christian league.

On reflection of the past season and many other seasons, I hope and pray that Leslie's experience could be repeated many times by the girls and boys who have played football in the Christian League. This can only really happen if those who are in a position of influence i.e managers and coaches share the ideology of the Christian League; the ethos of integrity, fair play, showing humility in winning and grace in defeat.

In the finals, as in our league games, there are many spectators who watch us closely. Since we are surrounded by a great crowd of witnesses, let us throw off everything that hinders, and the temptations that entangle us and run the race with endurance [play the game] set before us. Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith. Hebrews 12 v 1-2. Be a good example to others in the game!

The shields and cups on display are now a bit old and battered, with many teams engraved on the plates. Even so, it's a great feeling to have come through as winners and receive them and the medals. But is there more? Is there something even better, which you do not have to give back at the end of the next season? "Do not store up treasures on earth, where they will age and decay, get lost or stolen, but rather store up for yourselves treasures in heaven where there is no decay, no thief and will be yours forever to enjoy." Matthew 6.

As a manager of successful youth and adult teams I was really pleased for my lads when they lifted the cup or shield, but in my heart I wasn't satisfied, the only thing I desired was that one of them one day, would accept Jesus as their friend and saviour and have that treasure in heaven which would bring them the peace, inner contentment that only God's love for us can give us, a life with purpose and meaning and fulfilment. Position, power and money can never fill that void in your life, only God can do that.

I am so grateful to have a committee of committed Christians to work with. We may differ in several ways, and we sometimes disagree, but we are all of one mind in our quest to reach others with the gospel of our Lord.

Enjoy the remaining last few epic games in May, and may the Lord bless you and give you peace in all situations.

Adult League report

The mission of the Norfolk Christian Football League is 'Connecting Church to Community through Football'.

So how have we been doing? In many ways this is difficult to assess, but there is one thing I am sure of: the adult League puts our churches in contact with many young (and not so young) men, and their families whom otherwise we would not know. And not only are we in touch, but the experience of 11-a-side football allows us to share our lives, our personalities and emotions, in a special way.

From UEA and NCBC playing a title decider at the end of April, to Vineyard making a final effort to win a game on the same day, from top to bottom all our teams are engaged in a team effort which challenges us. We want that challenge to be in the context of healthy, friendly competition, where each week two teams come together with the aim of enjoying a game of football.

This year, I would suggest, that has happened more than ever before. Of course there have been a few issues, that is football, but the league feels to me to have been the friendliest and most cohesive that I have known.

To back this up, this is an unsolicited email from referee Lee Potter about the Soul/Briston Shield semi-final. "Just to say what a great advert for the Christian League last week's semi-final match was between Soul Church and Briston. Tough but fair tackling, competitive, extra time and penalties and both teams enjoying the match, if not the result. Played in the right spirit and I thoroughly enjoyed refereeing the game."

It has also been a very competitive year: apart from NCBC and UEA at the top and Vineyard at the bottom, all the other teams have been within five points of each other.

The only down-side to this season has been that we had eight teams, a drop of three from the previous year: we are not immune to the challenges the 11-a-side game faces nationally. Although this might have aided the friendliness of the league, we would like to say to any churches who might be considering an adult football team: Come and join us - there really is nothing else like it.

Which brings us to today.

The League extends a warm welcome to all players, officials, families and friends of all the teams involved in our Finals, as well as those indispensable people, the match officials.

We also welcome Geoff Lawton, who is about to retire from the leadership of Norwich Vineyard, to present the trophies. As a player for Holy Trinity in the 1970s, I know from first-hand experience that Geoff is acquainted with the griefs and joys of football.

In the Wroxham Road Shield final we are pleased to welcome Stalham and Soul, two teams who have been a credit to the league and their churches over many years. In the Bishop's Cup, NCBC and UEA bring the season to a fitting climax, following UEAs dramatic late cup win last year and their title rivalry this season.

May we all enjoy the day, and in it find something of what Jesus meant when he said: "I have come that you might have life, life in all its fullness."

Youth League report

When the youth league first kicked off in 1995 there were four teams, one being Mount Zion church u12s. We welcome back Mount Zion, now better known as Soul church, with three teams in the youth league joining their adult team. Also welcome back a team from Cringleford in the u10 league.

Two new teams have joined us for the first time, Lowestoft Community church and SYEP u16s supported by churches in Sprowston.

The u10s have again had a very good season, outdoor and indoor, all games played in a spirit which fully embraces the ethos of our league, thank you to all the lads, managers and parents for your enthusiasm and encouragement for all involved. A special mention for Silver Road, who against the odds, made it through to the u10 cup final, and will be playing a strong Brooke side.

The u12 league was dominated by a very strong Lowestoft team who won the league with a 100% record. Old Catton Soul, another new team with a very good record were runners up. We will expect a close game in the cup final with Lowestoft v Lighthouse.

Lighthouse were the u14 league winners losing just one game with just 3 points separating the next 3 teams. The cup final will be Lighthouse v Worstead Wolves; this will be a close encounter.

With just five teams in the u16 League, the lowest number we have had for several years we wondered if this would be successful, Thanks to Paul Nice, the u16 coordinator and all managers it was an enjoyable season with the lads getting to know each other as the season progressed, with games played in a friendly atmosphere, unusual for 15 year olds, well done to all. Our new team from Sprowston, who didn't play league games, are through to the cup final playing Brooke, who won the u16 league.

Overall we have had a very good season, with over 300 lads playing in the Christian league. There have been a few, very few, unpleasant situations to deal with, but, that is football, being played and watched and managed by imperfect human beings. We have Jesus as our example... "Even though he was God, he humbled himself and became man and lived among us...". Humility, grace and forgiveness takes care of all things.

We have a wonderful football league, with games being played in a great spirit so I will sign off by congratulating everyone connected with the league and I am sure you will agree that Alan Barnes deserves a special mention for all his hard work in making it all happen so successfully.

Players turn out to honour Norfolk football pioneer Tim

A special memorial football match in honour of Norwich young people's champion Tim Stapleford took place on October 15 to raise funds for a sports project which he set up.

Tim was the inspiration behind the launch of the youth divisions of the Norfolk Christian Football League and, as a tribute, the league and its teams came together in a special match at the FDC 'Field of Dreams', at Bowthorpe.

Players young and old from at least eight different churches and teams took part including Holy Trinity, Heigham Park Rangers, Meadow Way, Soul Church, St John's, UEA Christian Union, Surrey Chapel and Heartsease Methodist.

A crowd of around 70 people attended and helped to raise £570 towards the Jenny Lind Park Young People's Work, a venture to which Tim committed endless time and energy.

Presenting the Tim Stapleford Memorial Trophy to the winning team, from Holy Trinity who beat the Rest of the League team 5v3, was Tim's widow Sue. She said: "If Tim was here today he would pretend to be mortified but he would actually be chuffed to bits, and so thrilled at being remembered in a way which for him is perfect. He loved football.

"It was quite hard seeing the programme with his face on it but it is good seeing so many lives that he touched and that there are people involved in football and are Christians because of him. The Jenny Lind Project was his dream and it would be terribly sad if it stopped."

Tim's younger brother Robin, said: "The cause Tim has been involved in over the last few years has been magnificent. It brought together his twin passions of spirituality and sport. It's a great legacy to him. So hats off to him for putting his faith into effect. I am so touched and overwhelmed that today's game has been staged."

Introducing the game, league chairman, Mike Culwick said: "Tim was a man who desperately wanted to share his Christian faith with anyone he met, especially through sport and the Jenny Lind Project. There is no doubt that being with Tim has changed so many people's lives."

Bert Cadmore, chaplain at Norwich City FC, who spoke before the game, said: "Tim has inspired a lot of people with his Christian faith. He was a man of integrity, a man of compassion, a perceptive man of vision, but most of all he was a man of faith – and sharing that faith was close to Tim's heart."

Nigel Parfitt, chairman of management committee, Jenny Lind Project, said: "I played with Tim for 20 years. He was dynamic, encouraging, always enthusiastic and always gave his all for the team.

"It is fantastic to see the game today. It is a real witness to his vision for the Jenny Lind Project which we are trying to continue and build upon – football was at the core of it."
