Welcome to the Conference on Social Justice

I should like to welcome you to the conference and trust you have an informative and productive day. I was delighted to note the impressive range of church and secular charities in the Greater Norwich area that you represent.

The morning and early afternoon sessions are devoted to providing information and giving you an opportunity to ask questions, meet people and visit display stalls. The rest of the day will be spent in discussing how we can work together to find more effective ways of co-operating to support those in need.

We also ask that you leave a business card, or similar card, indicating your contact details and charity/organisation on arrival. At 11.15 am, before you leave your tables, you are asked to take another card, at random, so that you can mutually arrange to meet after the conference is over. Explanations will be provided during the day. We hope you will take part in activities proposed as a follow-up to the conference. At the end, you are asked to leave the short evaluation sheet on your working table.

I should like to thank: our distinguished speakers who are spending all day with us, the Planning Group, most of whom represent local charities, and who have put so much work into planning the day over the last 12 months, and the Norfolk Community Advice Network which has provided the considerable administrative support that has made this conference possible.

Similarly, we thank our generous donors (who are listed in the programme) who have enabled this conference to be free to delegates.

Thank you for coming and have an enjoyable day!

Tony Gammage, Founder, LWN and Chair of Planning Group

Speakers Information

Rt Revd Alan Hopes (Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of East Anglia)

Alan Hope was consecrated a bishop in 2003 to work as an Auxiliary in the Westminster Diocese (which covers London north of the River Thames and Hertfordshire). He worked closely with Cardinals Cormac Murphy O' Connor and Vincent Nichols. Alan has always had a keen interest in social justice, having worked as a priest in challenging and deprived areas in London, from Haringey to Kensington.

Part of Alan's pastoral care as a bishop was to work very closely with the 57 ethnic chaplaincies of the Diocese which brought to light many of the social and wider problems faced by immigrants, refugees and asylum seekers. Alan was also part of the very first group of people who were called together to begin a real discussion for action on the problems of human trafficking, which has led to it being taken more seriously by the authorities.

Alan was appointed by Pope Francis as the fourth Bishop of East Anglia in June 2013 and has also pursued the problem of human trafficking in East Anglia. The Diocese is also in the process of setting up a Diocesan Caritas structure to enable them to reach out more easily to the poor and those in need in local parishes.

Rt Revd Jonathan Meyrick (Bishop of Lynn, Church of England Diocese of Norwich)

Bishop Jonathan Meyrick is the Suffragan Bishop in the Church of England Diocese of Norwich with devolved responsibility for the episcopal care of the north and west of the diocese. He also has Diocesan wide responsibility for the Social Community and Environmental Concerns Forum, for Chaplains working in prisons, hospitals and the work-place, for the Children Youth and Family Forum and for the Diocesan link with the Anglican Church in Papua New Guinea.

He became Bishop of Lynn in 2011 following thirteen years in cathedral ministry in Rochester and Exeter and fourteen years in parish ministry in rural Wiltshire and suburban Buckinghamshire.

Alan Waters (Leader, Norwich City Council)

Alan Waters has been an elected member of Norwich City Council for 25 years. He has held a number of senior positions and is currently serving a second term as leader of the council. Alan sits on the editorial board of 'Local Economy', based at South Bank University; he is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts; a member of the South East Board of the Arts Council, and the New Anglia Local Enterprise Partnership. Alan worked for 25 years in comprehensive schools in England and Australia. He continues his involvement in secondary education as an Associate Tutor for the School of Education and Life Long Learning at the University of East Anglia.

Equalities and social inclusion are reflected in the council's core priorities to achieve a fair city. Current initiatives include: promotion of the Living Wage, building high quality affordable housing, investing in communities, and ensuring the goods and services bought generate social as well as economic value locally.

Dr Jan Sheldon (CEO, St Martins)

Jan has recently joined St Martins and is looking forward to developing the excellent work of the charity.

Prior to joining St Martins, Jan worked for Skills for Care, the Sector Skills Council for Social Care, where she was involved in the design and implementation of a workforce development strategy across adult social care. She worked closely with the Department of Health and the Cabinet Office. More recently, Jan was the CEO for the Royal Association for Deaf people, working closely with trustees and senior staff to develop and deliver the strategic objectives of the charity.

Jan is passionate about supporting people to live the lives they want to lead and is a keen campaigner for social justice.

Paul Mortimer (Her Majesty's Prison and Probation Service)

Paul has spent sixteen years in the Prison Service working with category A, B, C, D prisoners and those with dangerous severe personality disorders as a uniformed officer. Recently he has taken on the role of Head of Learning Skills and Employment at HMP Norwich. Prior to this he worked as a manager of a children's educational charity and as a Police Officer in Suffolk Constabulary.

Paul Martin (CEO, Matthew Project)

Paul joined The Matthew Project as CEO in 2014 following roles across the public, private and charity sector, in the UK and internationally. He hopes he has helped bring these sectors closer together for social good.

With experience across Environmental and Public Health, Regeneration, Criminal Enforcement, Major Emergencies and Security and International Development, Paul has seen many situations where social justice has been tested. Across the three sectors, local services, projects and employers, the theme of mental health has been a constant and emerging issue.

The Matthew Project is known for its substance misuse work, but the center of this work is the focus on the person and family. This is because substance misuse connects with all issues of the individual and the community, both past and present, and includes Mental Health in all its forms.

Daniel Childerhouse (Living Wage Norwich and CEO of Future Projects)

Daniel Childerhouse is the Chief Executive Officer of Future Projects, a charity active in helping children and adults in Norfolk that experience severe and multiple deprivation and disadvantage. Under Daniel's leadership the charity has grown to develop a range of high quality, community-based projects and services which promote employment, education, health, skills, physical and mental wellbeing, and improved life chances for local residents.

Daniel has been the Chair of Living Wage Norwich since 2016 and has over a decade of experience in operational and leadership roles within the Voluntary Sector. Daniel has a keen interest in the causes of poverty, community development and social mobility.

Carrie Sant (Community Development Worker)

Carrie Sant is a part time outreach practice nurse, a community development worker, and co-ordinator of City Saints in Action. Working with volunteers who are looking to form new social networks, she looks to do this by facilitating people working together to help others. This includes working with and for refugees, asylum seekers and other migrants along with members of the local community.

They aim to target gaps in statutory provision. Using an asset based approach they seek to build community and to encourage the sharing of resources.

Jonathan Moore (Chair, Equal Lives)

Jon has been a trustee of Equal Lives for the last 6 years and Chair for the last 4 years. He used to work in a voluntary capacity for the Eastern Daily Press, and during that time wrote about disability issues for the paper. In order to do this, he has had to have a good understanding of the social model of disability. Jon also used to work as a disability awareness training assistant for the old Norfolk careers service.

Sue Whitaker (Former Cabinet member and Chair of Adult Social Care Committee, Norfolk County Council)

A graduate of UEA, Sue was elected to Norfolk County Council as Labour member for Lakenham in 2001. She was Group Leader 2007 - 2009, Cabinet Member for Adult Social Care 2013 - 2014 and Chair of the Adult Social Care Committee 2014 - 2016. Sue was a member of the national Local Government Association Board on Adult Social Care 2005 - 2015. Sue stood down as a Councillor in May 2017 but is currently a Hospital Manager at Norfolk and Suffolk NHS Foundation Trust and a Trustee for Age UK Norwich and Future Projects.

Dan Mobbs, (CEO, Mancroft Advice Project)

Dan Mobbs is CEO of Mancroft Advice Project (MAP). MAP is a young person's charity providing information, advice, youth work and therapeutic support and counselling to young people aged 11 – 25 years old. The youth mental health team support the wellbeing of 11-18 year olds in Norfolk through group work in schools, 1-2-1 drop-ins and psychosocial interventions. MAP hopes that by providing holistic support for young people at the earliest opportunity in the most accessible way, young people will become self-reliant and ready for adult life and so prevent problems getting bigger and lasting longer.

Dan is also the Chair of Norfolk Community Advice Network. NCAN is an alliance of over 50 free social welfare advice providers, led by a Steering Group of members. It was established in the 1990's, and has the goal to ensure that Norfolk residents can access good quality social welfare information, advice, assistance and representation at a time or place when they need them most.
